eNERSTEER

The Digital Procurement-Process for Commodities

Starting point

Deloitte's digital method enables you to purchase raw materials tailored to your risk profile on the basis of all available market information

Have I considered all relevant market information when purchasing electricity, gas, CO₂, steel?

What risk did I take in my purchasing decision and did I buy at the right time?

As person in charge – can I still remember all the reasons for the decision taken?

Deloitte has standardized and automated a process in 3 steps - what eNERSTEER delivers

Definition of the hedging strategy

Customized & standardized reporting on the implementation status of the hedging strategy

Market Forecasts different time periods

Analysis of long-term (> 3 years) to short-term (+ 1 month) indicators

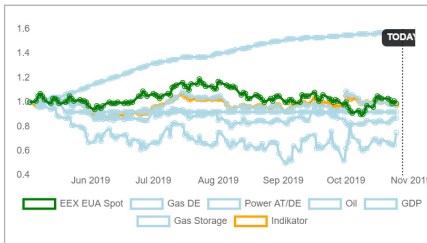

Documentation of decision execution

Automated reporting of purchasing activities including alignment with the hedging strategy

Methodology

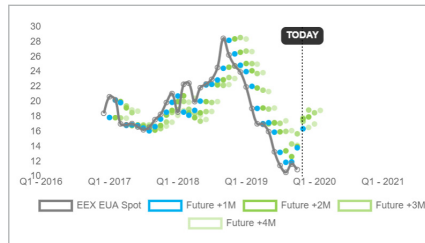

Definition of a long-term hedging strategy adapted to your risk profile

Current first hand market data

As basis of an informed decision

Current data from renowned sources (EEX, PEGAS, Eurostat, Reuters, Bloomberg, etc.)

Time saving in procurement

Indicators as a clear sign of necessary action

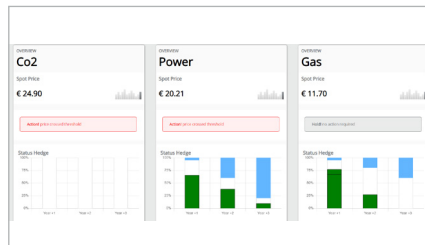

A clearly structured process for effective and efficient execution

Defined hedging strategy

Clear definition of risk

Establish & digitally track a hedging strategy tailored to your risk profile

Automated reporting

Standardized & structured based on your company profile

The automated overview consists of a few pages and explains every purchasing decision

Your effort

Your effort consists of 3 workshops of 3 hours each in which we implement the following aspects with you:

- 1 Definition of the hedging organisation
- 2 Definition of the hedging strategy
